MR. TIMOTHY,

By inſerting the following, and from what we ſee in America, we ſhall find, that the BRIAREUS of the NORTH is determined the influence of his hundred hands ſhall be exerted over all his Majeſty's dominions, from the ſtone at Hyde-Park corner to the banks of the Miſſippi, and even to the Bay of Honduras, as ſoon as it is properly ſettled. ARGUS.

From a late LONDON PAPER.

AMONG the many deſpotic attempts charged to the account of a great Favourite, made (as is ſuggeſted) to eſtabliſh arbitrary power in the end, I ſhould be ſurprized that not one of the multitudinous advocates for Engliſh Liberty, in daily and weekly news-papers, ſhould not have taken notice of his late attempt in Ireland, to encreaſe the military eſtabliſhment there; I ſay, I ſhould have been ſurpriſed, had I not always obſerved, that nothing relating to that kingdom is thought worth notice here, though the conſequences of meaſures taken there ſhould have a direct tendency to affect the intereſts of Britain.

In the firſt year, in the zenith of this Favourite's power, he deſigned to add ſix thouſand men to that eſtabliſhment; but (it is well known) his Cocoa-tree friends went in a body, and told him they were aſhamed to abett that meaſure; and One, no great financier, ſpeaking for the reſt, ſaid, "We, Tories, have been bellowing againſt ſtanding armies for fifty years; and with what face can we now ſupport the man, who not only keeps the ſame armies on foot, but wants to double them on us and our poſterity?" On this the ſcheme for a time was dropped, lately revived, and juſtly rejected by the Commons of Ireland. Neither threats nor promiſes (for there no bribes in hand can be given, as the treaſury is half yearly ſwept away by penſioners) could gain a majority to concur with the propoſal; they took into conſideration the ſtate of the army ſince the Revolution, when it appeared that ſeventeen corps of officers, or regiments, were added ſince that time to the twelve thouſand troops, though the number of privates was not encreaſed. Now, to what purpoſe has this been done? Why, only to enlarge the power of the miniſtry here, to provide for friends of all ranks and ſizes, without any pretended ſervice. The expence of every corps of officers is twelve thouſand pounds a year, beſides cloathing, &c.

But, to drop the conſideration of expence, let us reflect on the obvious deſigns of this great man, when he attempted to encreaſe the military in Ireland. It wants no proof to aſſert, that all his deſigns have tended to put all his M———y's dominions under the power of the SCOTS, in both military and civil capacities. The ſtrides he made at firſt to reach this point in his view, were ill-judged, and too alarming. He retired behind the curtain, in hopes not to be aimed at there ſo point-blank; but at the ſame time mixing about three or four Engliſhmen with as many hundred Scots, whom he placed and penſioned every where. But his ſcheme was not compleated by his making Scotſmen only officers in the army, unleſs the privates were Scots alſo. Now this is very eaſily done in Ireland, where, to my knowledge, it has for forty years been a practice to get the Scots of Ulſter, in Ireland, enliſted, carried over to Scotland to be atteſted, and to paſs them at muſter for Engliſhmen.

In five years, had the ſcheme of augmentation proſpered, the eighteen thouſand on the Iriſh eſtabliſhment had been Scots to a man.

Let your readers judge, Mr. Printer, what might be the event of having eighteen regiments of Scotſmen, well armed and diſciplined (better than in England) ready, at the nod of a SCOT, to fall on and execute either the fatal purpoſes of his revenge or his ambition.

All England was alarmed at the Revolution, and in dread of having their throats cut in one night by three thouſand new-raiſed Iriſh, that James had brought to Cheſter; poor diſpirited wretches, who were ready themſelves to run through fire and water for fear of hanging. And ſhall no alarm be taken when Scots only bear rule and authority; when Scots only fill our navies and armies; and ſhould it happen, when Scots only have the power of the ſword, as well as the Uſe of it committed to every individual Scot of an army? That the Scots hate the Engliſh, let every one of their political writers, from Fletcher of Saltown at the Union, to modern Guthrie, teſtify; that they hate the Iriſh they confeſs, and good reaſon; while the Scotch lairds are eating bannocks at home, the gentry of Ireland are living like Princes. They hate Ireland for its growing trade and wealth, and would be glad of a good ſcramble for the laſt.

The great man, in adhering ſo obſtinately to his firſt intention, ſhews he has not taken warning from the fate of one of an inferior branch of his family, James the Second, who abſolutely loſt his crown and kingdoms by the very ſtep that was to be taken by him, viz. to bring an army from Ireland to ſubdue England (though not an Iriſh but a Scotch army;) for it was that, and his other acts of deſpotiſm in Ireland, that ſent that unhappy Prince into exile, with his whole family, we hope for ever. To prove this, let your readers look back to the famous ſpeech of Lord Delamere, afterwards Earl of Warrington, to the Grand Jury of Cheſhire, at the Palatine aſſize, 1687, where he ſpeaks thus: "If any doubt remains of the King's intentions, with any of you, let his raiſing armies in Ireland, to be brought here, convince you that he means to treat England as he has already done Ireland, as ſoon as he has means and opportunity." I quote on memory, but am ſure it is the ſubſtance of that part of a noble ſpeech, which had a very principal ſhare in ſecuring the Liberties of England, by the Prince of Orange's taking the enterprize he did upon him. All that county, who were Proteſtants, met him on Hudden Down, at his requeſt, though made only to his own tenants, well mounted and armed, and effectually ſtopped any of the King's projects from ſucceeding there.

I ſaid the great man ſhould have taken warning, but quem Jupiter vult perdere prius dementat. I pronounce him to have gotten near the length of his tether: nor will his Outings and Innings, his ſacrificing every thing to every ſoverelgn Prince, to gain their aſſiſtance in his plans, avail him ſo far, as either to make him what he wants to be, or protect him from the juſt vengeance (legal I hope however) of a people, more injured by him, than the ſubjects of England have been at any period of time ſince the Mortimers and Gaveſtons bore ſway.

THE brick TENEMENT in Elliott-ſtreet, where Mrs. Broughton lately lived.—Enquire of GRIFFITH & CAPE, or

JOHN HUGER.

LONDON, APRIL 30.

IT is now confidently aſſerted, that the late Meſſrs. Chas. Churchill and Robert Lloyd, were the real writers of the celebrated North Briton, No. 45, during a few days abſence of Mr. Wilkes in the country; though the laſt mentioned gentleman (rather than at that time give up his friends) had bro't himſelf into ſo much trouble for it.

May 3. Alexander Gordon, Eſq; of Glaſgow, is appointed Agent for all the forces ſtationed at Nova-Scotia, &c. in America.

May 26. We are told, that if the ſale of Mr. Wilkes's hiſtory of England anſwers the ſanguine expectations of his friends, that gentleman will oblige the world with the hiſtory of Scotland, from 1715 to the preſent time.

June 2. A gentleman converſant in public buſineſs, more particularly in the arrival of ſhipping in the kingdom, aſſerts that there have been imported into this kingdom, ſince the concluſion of the late peace, upwards of 120,000 people of different countries, from whence he would attempt to account for the ſcarcity and dearneſs of all kinds of proviſions in this kingdom at preſent.

London, June 11. At a meeting of the m——y, at the D—— of G——n's on Saturday laſt, to conſider of the beſt method of applying for an expulſion, the matter ſtood as follows:

For Expulſion.	Againſt the Motion.
D— of G———n.	Lord C———en.
Lord G———r.	Lord S———ne.
Lord W———th.	Lord G———by.
Sir G——t E———l.	Sir E—d H——ke.
Lord N—th.	G——l C———y.

The A——y G——l was for the expulſion, but had no voice. The S——r G——l declined being any ways concerned, as an Officer of the Crown, at the peril of his office, or any other conſequence.

June 21. It ſaid a public inveſtigation will ſoon be made into the legality of proceedings by attachment, which, it is thought, will be deemed as unconſtitutional as general warrants.

Extract of a Letter from Carick, June 21.

"At nine o'clock this morning I returned from the ſea-ſide, and at one o'clock a fire broke out here, and in two hours conſumed about 100 houſes; it began near the Barracks, and ran round both ſides of the ſtreet to the Chapel, and round the Green; poor Mandevil has loſt all, ſo have the moſt of them; a boy of ſeven years old was burned in the flames."

June 23. Yeſterday one of the venders of the North Britons, a widow, with a large family, was diſmiſſed by the Court of King's Bench, and the reſt gave in bail for their appearance next term, which begins on the 7th of November.

The following was copied laſt Sunday from a tombſtone in Eſſex:

Here lies the man Richard,
And Mary his wife;
Their ſurname was Pritchard;
They liv'd without ſtrife:

And the reaſon was plain;—
They abounded in riches;
They nor care had nor pain,
And the wife wore the breeches.

June 24. Yeſterday Mr. Wilkes gave a very genteel entertainment to ſeveral of his friends in the King's Bench, in honour of his Majeſty's Birth-day.

When Mr. Serjeant Glynn pleaded on the Alteration of the Records, on the 15th inſtant, we are informed that he concluded thus:

"My Lords, I have done with my Client and his Cauſe; your Lordſhips will determine according to your wiſdom. But here let me intreat you, for the ſake of the ſafety of every ſubject of this nation, that your Lordſhips will pleaſe to fix ſome limits to the diſcretionary power of altering Records; that we may know, for the future, when we can be certain of the cauſe we are to plead; and that the ſubject may not be liable to ruin at the diſcretion of the Judge."

The Government of Milan has ordered all foreign Eccleſiaſtics to quit that city.

A letter from Leghorn, dated June 3, adviſes that the French have landed 9000 troops on the iſland of Corſica, and that General Paoli has iſſued orders for all the Corſicans, from 16 to 60 years of age, that are able to bear arms, to prepare to attack them; but theſe letters ſay, that he is in great want of money, artillery, and ammunition.

We are informed that a ſcheme is on foot to apply part of the crown revenues in America towards the conſtruction of a certain number of ſhips of war, and the eſtabliſhing regular arſenals and dock-yards, in the principal maritime provinces on the continent.

On the 19th of laſt month the King of France gave his anſwer to the deputation from the parliament, in relation to the remonſtrances which have been made to his Majeſty concerning his Edict for a ſuppoſed change in the conſtitution of the Great Council. In the remonſtrance of the parliament is the following paſſage.

"Your parliament, Sir, is not afraid on this head to remind your Majeſty of the ever memorable words which the Firſt Preſident Harlay addreſſed to Henry III. in 1586. Sir, ſaid this Magiſtrate, we have two ſorts of laws: One ſort are the ordinances of our Kings, and theſe may be altered according to difference of times and circumſtances: The other ſort are the ordinances of the kingdom, which are inviolable, and by which you aſcended to the Throne and the Crown, which your predeceſſors preſerved. Among theſe public laws, that is one of the moſt ſacred, and has been moſt religiouſly kept by your predeceſſors, which orders that no law or ordinance ſhall be publiſhed, but what is verified in this company: They thought a violation of this law was a violation of that by which they were made Kings, and that it gave opportunity to the people to miſtruſt their goodneſs."

The King ſaid in anſwer, "He had not changed the conſtitution of the Council, that it was ſuch as it was eſtabliſhed by Charles VIII, and that the parliament was inexcuſable to raiſe doubts about a court which had been acknowledged by all parliaments."

June 25. John Pownall, Eſq; Secretary to the Lords of Trade, is appointed Under Secretary of State in the office of the Earl of Hillſborough.

The Venus frigate is now fitting out with all expedition at Woolwich, for the reception of his Royal Highneſs the Duke of Cumberland, who is to embark on board the ſaid ſhip, on his intended tour abroad, the command of which, we are informed, will be given to Capt. Barrington.

June 25. It is aſſerted by ſome gentlemen eminent in the law, that Mr. Wilkes's impriſonment will expire at the twelvemonth's end; it being their opinion that his impriſonment, on both verdicts, commenced immediately on paſſing ſentence.

We hear that the manufacturers of Birmingham, and other towns, ſubſiſting chiefly by their trade for hard wares, are greatly alarmed on account of the remarkable decreaſe of orders from America.

Yeſterday the Lords Commiſſioners appointed by his Majeſty prorogued both houſes of parliament to Thurſday the 11th of Auguſt.

June 27. A letter from Hamburgh, dated June 24, ſays, "They write from Copenhagen, that the African trade, which a company of merchants have alone carried on hitherto, by virtue of an excluſive privilege with which they were ſo reliſhed, is now rendered free for all the ſubjects of his Daniſh Majeſty."

On Friday evening the two Princes of Saxe Gotha, couſins to her Royal Highneſs the Princeſs Dowager of Wales, arrived in town from that place, and on Saturday they were introduced to her Royal Highneſs.

It is ſaid that an actual ſurvey of the forfeited eſtates in Scotland will ſoon be made, in order to aſcertain their real value, as of late years their annual produce has been much leſs than formerly.

In anſwer to which it is aſſerted, that the forfeited eſtates in Scotland, ſo far from producing leſs annual income, have actually been augmented to full one-third additional rent.

Dublin, June 21. Yeſterday the Privy Council met at the Caſtle, and this night writs were ſent to the different counties, cities, and boroughs, to elect the members for the enſuing parliament.

London, June 29. Letters from Weſel, dated June 27, ſay, "The King of Pruſſia, the Prince of Pruſſia, and the two Princes of Brunſwick, who returned hither yeſterday from Loo, and continued their journey to Lunen, were to proceed this day towards Minden. As the King of Denmark was yeſterday at Ham, it is preſumed theſe two monarchs had an interview there."

It is reported, that orders have been given to repair and ſtrengthen the fortifications of Minorca, and that a regiment of foot on the Iriſh eſtabliſhment will this ſummer be ſent over to reinforce the garriſon there.

They write from Genoa, of the 28th ult. that a courier arrived there that day from Paris, with the Ratification of the Treaty, concluded between France and that republic. The ſame letters add, that 3000 French troops had already landed in Corſica, part of them at Ajaccio, and part at Calvi.

The Republic of Genoa has ſent three deputies to Baſtia, to withdraw the archieves, and deliver the city, and whatever elſe the Genoeſe poſſeſs in Corſica, into the hands of the French commandant.

Wedneſday laſt the Lords of the Admiralty were pleaſed to appoint the three following gentlemen, who were Maſters and Commanders in the Navy, to the rank of Poſt Captains, viz. William Greenwood, William Hamilton, and John Orrery.

Saturday Mr. Wilkes gave a very genteel entertainment to ſeveral noblemen, and other perſons of diſtinction, at the King's-Bench.

According to recent letters from Leghorn, General Paſchal de Paoli had given orders for every third horſe throughout all the ſtates to be ſent to the Corſican camp, for the ſervice of the troops.

June 30. Yeſterday an expreſs arrived in Town, which brought an account of the death of the Queen of France, Conſort of Lewis XV. and daughter of the late Staniſlaus, King of Poland.

We hear that a Commiſſion is preparing to paſs the Great Seal, for appointing a new Board of Trade and Plantations.

On the arrival of his Daniſh Majeſty in theſe dominions, great expectations are formed by the politicians at the weſt end of the town: One party aſſures us this tour of his Majeſty is not merely to ſee the country, but to ſet on foot a new commercial treaty between the two nations, particularly regarding the preſent trade of the Danes in the Weſt Indies. As we are poſſeſſed of many uſeleſs iſlands in thoſe parts, ſuch as the Bahama Iſlands, and up through the Exuma found to the Crooked Iſland, which at preſent are of little or no account to us, it is propoſed to cede ſome portions thereof to the Danes, for a valuable conſideration. Since it is well known, with induſtry, they are capable of producing every kind of commodity, in common with the other Leeward Iſlands. On the other hand it is ſaid, that this journey will put the finiſhing ſtroke to ſome recent affairs lately tranſacted on the continent.

July 1. Yeſterday morning an expreſs was ſent off from the Secretary of State's Office, in Cleveland Row, St. James's, for his Excellency the Earl of Rochford, at Paris.

It is ſaid that the King of Denmark is expected here the latter end of this month.

They write from Breſt, that the Calypſo frigate, and four tranſport ſhips had juſt ſailed with artillery, troops and ſtores, for the French ſettlements of Cayenne, in the Weſt-Indies.

July 2. At the public houſes near St. James's, the enemies of Mr. Wilkes are ſaid to be 45 to 15; in the city his advocates are 45 to 15; and in Wapping his ſtaunch friends are 45 to — none at all.

July 2. We hear from undoubted authority, that at a late conference with the French Ambaſſador, the Count de Chatelet, had with the Earl of Shelburne, ſecretary of ſtate for the ſouthern department, the Count obſerved, that the King of France in ſending ſo many troops to Corſica, did no more than his duty in aſſiſting his ally, the republic of Genoa, againſt their rebel ſubjects. Lord Shelburne replied, "We do not conſider the Corſicans as rebels." "Your proclamations ſtile them ſo," anſwered the Count.

It is remarkable, that the proclamations againſt the Corſicans, were iſſued under Lord Bute's adminiſtration.

We hear orders are ſent to the out ports to the ſhipwrights, to work a day and one tide in fitting out ſeveral men of war intended for immediate ſervice.

Genoa, June 4. The following are the articles agreed on between France and this Republic, touching the ceſſion of Corſica.

I. The Republick of Genoa cedes the kingdom of Corſica, together with its fortreſſes, to France, the latter paying in money for the artillery and warlike ſtores, according to a valuation which ſhall be made of them.

II. The ſovereignty of that iſland ſhall always remain veſted in the Republick.

III. Every perſon ſhall be preſerved in his effects, on proving the right he has to them.

IV. The Corſicans ſhall be deemed ſubjects of France, ſo long as the latter continues in poſſeſſion of that iſle.

V. France ſhall be obliged to maintain there ſixteen battalions.

VI. France ſhall guaranty the Genoeſe commerce againſt the Corſican and Barbary cruizers.

VII. In caſe the Republick ſhould be deſirous of reſuming again the poſſeſſion of that kingdom, it ſhall repay to France all the charges that crown ſhall have been at by that time, for which purpoſe an exact account ſhall be kept of all that the latter ſhall have advanced, and likewiſe of the revenues it ſhall have collected.

VIII. The King ſhall beſtow in property on the Republick, the ſovereignty of the Iſle of Capraea.——This treaty contains beſides three ſecret articles.

London, July 4. In laſt Saturday's Gazette is publiſhed an Order of Council of his Majeſty, that the Governor, or Commander in Chief for the time being, of Nova-Scotia, do forbear to paſs any grants, under the ſeal of that colony, of any parcels of land in his Majeſty's Iſland of St. John, unleſs his Majeſty's order in council, directing the ſame, ſhall have been produced to him on or before the 1ſt day of May, 1769.

It is rumoured, that during a late private negociation, a very conſiderable place was offered, conditionally, to three ſeveral perſonages, who thought proper to decline accepting it.

His Majeſty has appointed John Chriſtopher Roberts, Eſq; to be Secretary, &c. and Commiſſary-General for the province of Quebec, in the room of Henry Ellis, Eſq; reſigned.

According to the arrangement of the King of Denmark's tour, his Majeſty will be at Leyden to-morrow, and at the Hague on Wedneſday.

July 5. It is ſaid that a material alteration in the mode of paying the Cuſtom-houſe duties is under conſideration.

Yeſterday came on the election for the African Committee-men, for the city of London; when Meſſ. James Boyle French, James Johnſon, and Arthur Roſs, were elected for the year enſuing.

We hear that a native of Italy, now in London, has invented a method of making glaſs malleable, which has hitherto ſo greatly puzzled the curious.

July 6. A letter from Liſbon mentions, that there are at preſent a greater reſort of Dutch merchant ſhips in the Tagus than has been known ſince the concluſion of the late war; the goods which they import being ſhipped off in great quantities for ſupplying the markets of Grand Para and Maranham in the Brazils.

We hear from Corſica, by the way of Leghorn, that in a General Aſſembly lately held at Corte, it was reſolved to defend the rights of the kingdom with vigour, and to regard thoſe perſons as enemies who ſhould attempt to infringe them. The Corſicans are forbidden, under pain of death, to furniſh any of the French garriſons with proviſions; and the inhabitants of Capraea are ordered not to lend their gondolas to the French. Gen. Paoli has aſſured the whole nation of his protection, has ordered out ſome detachments to obſerve the motions of the French troops.

The Magiſtrates of Glaſgow have now fixed on the place for building the new bridge over the river Clyde, and the ground is ſtaked off oppoſite to James-ſtreet.

July 7. We hear that all the marching regiments on the Engliſh eſtabliſhment are ordered to be reviewed ſeparately by their reſpective officers, and a due return thereof to be made to the War-Office, on or before the firſt of Auguſt next.

We alſo hear that a general ſurvey of the Navy is ordered to be made forthwith, and a due return made thereof to the Lords of the Admiralty with all convenient ſpeed; to which end, on Tueſday next, the proper ſuperior officers will be appointed by the Lords of the Admiralty.

July 7. They write from Porto-Ferraio, that the French commandant at Corſica had intimated to the Gondoliers of Capraja to hold themſelves in readineſs to tranſport French troops wherever they might be wanted: While, on the other hand, General Paoli had expreſsly ordered, the inhabitants of the ſaid iſland no longer to lend their gondolas to the French, aſſuring them at the ſame time of his protection.

It is confidently affirmed, that it is under conſideration, either wholly to aboliſh the board of trade, or the new office of ſecretary of ſtate for the colonies; it being found altogether needleſs, to ſay nothing of the amazing expence, to continue both inſtitutions.

July 8. It is ſaid, the Earl of Tankerville, is appointed Ambaſſador Extraordinary, and Plenipotentiary to the court of Turin.

Yeſterday the Marquis of Granby ſet out for Sheerneſs, to take a ſurvey of the fortifications of that place.

Letters from Poland give us the following account of the confederacy newly formed at Proſonowick, three [Poliſh] miles from Cracow. The nobility having aſſembled there, in order to hold the diet, as ſoon as maſs was over, which they always begin with, on a ſignal given every one drew their ſabres. A member of the regency having aſked what they meant by it, was told they were going to confederate. It was in vain he repreſented to them the conſequences: They cried out, "Confederacy! Confederacy!" He aſked them, "Would they rebel againſt the King?" They replied, "No: If the King will join us, we will join him, and all preſent ſhall join it." On which the Confederacy was immediately formed.

Extract of a Letter from Baſtia, June 4.

"It is ſaid that France, in order to prevent the Corſicans from cruizing againſt the Genoeſe, will take poſſeſſion of all the ports of that iſle. The French feluccas, which carried the diſpatches to the French commandant, having refuſed to ſalute Erbalonga, was compelled to it by the cannon of the fort. After the general aſſembly, held at Corte, on the 2ad of laſt month, had broke up, Paoli drew together 5000 men, commanded by officers who had ſerved in foreign countries, and with theſe, it is ſuppoſed, he intends obſerving the motions of the French."

The garriſons of all the forts in the Gulph of San Fiorenzo have been augmented by the Corſicans, who are likewiſe erecting many new batteries, and forming magazines there.

We hear from Corſica, that M. Muratti, who lately commanded at Caprala, is to have the command in the Gulf of San-Fiorenzo, and the direction of the towns and batteries there, which are all to be furniſhed with large artillery.

A letter from Leghorn, of the 13th ult. ſays, "A few days ago a Corſican corſair made prize of a Genoeſe ſhip, laden with coals, and warlike ammunition, and carried her into Balagna."

Orders are ſaid to be given for three men of war of the line to be built at Milford Haven, in Pembrokeſhire.

We hear orders are ſent to Ireland for all the fortifications of that kingdom to be immediately put into a proper ſtate of defence.

On Monday laſt came on at Liverpool the election of an African Committee; when Meſſrs. Barnes, Smallwood and Maneſtry were choſen.

Some advices from the Hague mention, that the ſubjects of the States General have been threatened with the diſpleaſure of France, if they ſhould be found guilty of ſupplying the Corſicans any longer with ammunition, artillery, or naval ſtores.

A Bill of Indictment being found againſt a Magiſtrate for ordering ſome ſoldiers to fire in St. George's Fields, notice was given laſt night that he would ſurrender as this day to take his trial.

A proclamation is iſſued out in Dublin for the parliament of Ireland to meet the 1ſt of Auguſt.

July 12. The King of Denmark was expected at the Hague laſt wedneſday evening, under the title of Prince de Travendahl.

One day laſt week, at a certain Coffee-houſe not 200 miles from St. James's, a wager of a 1000 guineas to 50 was laid, that war would be declared between Great-Britain on the one part, and France and Genoa on the other, before the 3d day of Auguſt next.

It is reported, but we know not how true it is, that many perſons reſiding at Dunkirk have been commanded to leave that place.

One of the morning papers has the following article; for the authenticity of which the printer however declares he will not vouch, but give it juſt as ſent him.

"A gentleman juſt landed from France ſays, that when he left Paris, a report prevailed that the Duke de C——l, the French prime miniſter, had been ſtabbed by one of the Princes of the blood; the occaſion is ſaid to have been as follows: A council was held at Verſailles, in preſence of his M——y, at which were preſent, beſides the miniſters, ſeveral Princes of the blood. The Prince de Ch—— made a very pathetic ſpeech on the diſtreſſes which the people laboured under, owing to the dearneſs of proviſions, and the multiplicity of taxes; this ſpeech was anſwered by the premier miniſtre, in which anſwer he gave the Prince a flat contradiction, who inſtantly drew his ſword, and run him through the body."

They write from Gibralter, that a Mooriſh admiral had juſt entered the Mediterranean with nine ſail of ſtout corſairs, fitted out by the Emperor of Morocco, to cruize againſt the ſeveral European powers, with whom that Prince is at war.

They write from Leghorn, that notwithſtanding the vigilance of the French cruizers, the Corſicans find means to be plentifully ſupplied with all kinds of military and naval ſtores imported chiefly in Dutch bottoms.

By a gentleman juſt arrived from Calais, we are informed, that the common topick of converſation at that place, Dunkirk, and other ſea ports in France, is of an approaching war with England. He further ſays, that he was ſurpriſed to ſee in Calais many of the doors and windows of houſes, churches and on ſome carriages, "No. 45, and liberty" chalked.

CHARLES-TOWN, September 19.

ACCORDING to our laſt advices from Havana, M. Bucareli, the preſent governor, neither loſes time, nor ſpares any pains or expence, to put that place in a condition of bidding defiance to the whole navy and army of England. The old works have been fully repaired, particularly the Moro-Caſtle, which has received a great addition of ſtrength, and been fully mounted with cannon. The new works, on the Moro ſide of the harbour, are extended a conſiderable way above the town, and when compleated, are to be mounted with two tier of guns. There was not a ſpot where an enemy might attempt to land, or make approaches, but was ſtrongly fortified. Every bay, harbour, river, creek, and even every inland village, throughout the ſettled parts of Cuba, had a detachment of ſoldiers poſted therein. The expence of carrying on the new works, upon which a vaſt number of hands are employed, it was computed did not amount to leſs than 30,000 dollars per month; and yet it was thought, they could not be completely finiſhed in leſs than two years. At the ſame time ſhip-building was not neglected; for they had two months ago a new 84 gun-ſhip there ready, to ſail for Old-Spain, and two more of the ſame rate, with one of 64, on the ſtocks, in great forwardneſs.

Wedneſday laſt arrived here the ſloop Two Arthurs, John Rowney maſter, in 14 weeks from Waxford, in Ireland, with 64 paſſengers in good health, to be indented for their paſſage-money.

On Thurſday writs were iſſued for electing new members, to repreſent the inhabitants of this province, in the next Commons Houſe of Aſſembly; which bear date the 15th inſtant, and are made returnable the 25th of October. The election-days are Tueſday and Wedneſday the 4th and 5th of October.

The ſame day embarked for Philadelphia, in the Brigt. Prince of Wales, Captain Thomas Maſon,—Mrs. Harvey (the wife of John) Mr. Childermas Harvey, Meſſrs. Thomſon and Hay, lately from Jamaica, and others.

The ſame day died, Mrs. Elizabeth Mullins, the wife of Mr. George Mullins, of St. Paul's pariſh.

The reverend Mr. James Tonge, rector of the ſaid pariſh, was, on the 5th inſtant, married to Miſs Suſanna Perry, daughter of Edward Perry, Eſquire.

Laſt Friday night arrived here His Majeſty's packet-boat the Grenville, commanded by Captain John Gaylard, from Penſacola. The troops to go from thence, for St. Auguſtine, were to begin their embarkation on the 28th of Auguſt. Penſacola was very healthy; but at Mobile, the people were very ſickly. Charles Stuart, Eſq; one of the deputies to the ſuperintendant of Indian affairs, is come paſſenger in ſaid packet boat.

About a dozen of the ringleaders of the late diſturbance at Dr. Turnbull's ſettlement at the Muſquito-Harbour, in Eaſt-Florida, we hear, have been ſecured; about as many have got away; and all is quiet there again.

Laſt Saturday the Honourable Egerton Leigh, Eſq; ſole judge of his Majeſty's high court of vice admiralty in this province, and who has preſided there in as difficult cauſes as perhaps ever came before that court in America, reſigned that office; and we do not hear of any other gentleman that will accept it.

By the ſloop Hawke, Captain Emerſon, from Boſton, who put into New-York eight days ago, we have advice of the arrival of the Fowey man of war at the latter port, with the troops ſhe carried from hence.

The new Guard-houſe is in ſuch forwardneſs that, we hear, the town-watch will remove, and begin to do duty there, this evening or to-morrow.

Captain Taylor of the Philadelphia-Packet, from Briſtol, on the firſt inſtant, in lat. 25. 30. long. 66, ſpoke with the ſloop David, of and from New-York, for Cayenne, Daniel Henſhaw, Maſter, all well on board.

The ſloop Mercury, of Georgia, Robert Aleſtry, Maſter, from Philadelphia for Africa, was ſpoke with, all well on board, by Captain Minſhall, of the Brigt. Nancy, from Liverpoole, on the ſeventh of Auguſt, in lat. 32. long. 32.

The Sally, & Betſey, Yarborough, is arrived at Briſtol from North-Carolina; as are the Hawke, Grey; and the Charming Peggy, Cray, at Jamaica.
